We're offering special rates on Executive Education and partial scholarships for Olin alumni who want to pursue a graduate degree.

Olin News

Bridging the startup funding gap

Over the course of 10 months, the Olin Brookings Commission explored why less than 3% of women, Black, and Latinx business founders receive venture capital. The commission recently presented its findings and recommendations.

Listen to a healthcare pitch?

Olin is helping WashU’s Med School with an “Innovating for Healthcare” class this summer. Med students will take an idea from concept all the way to an angel investor pitch. If you’d like to listen to the pitches and provide feedback on Wednesday, June 7, from 1 to 3 p.m. Central over Zoom, please contact Rian Edwards at rianedwards@wustl.edu.

Make Way: Our Student Initiative

Last fall, the university launched Make Way: Our Student Initiative, a fundraising effort aiming to increase access and opportunity for students at every level of need, like Drake Shafer, BSBA 2023.

Partial scholarships available

As an Olin alum, you’re eligible to receive a partial scholarship toward tuition on our graduate programs. We offer 11 graduate programs in various formats—full time and part time, in person and online. To learn more, please contact Olin Graduate Admissions.
Radhakrishnan Gopalan Memorial Scholarship

Radhakrishnan Gopalan, a beloved professor of finance at Olin, lost his battle with cancer on December 6, 2022. He was 50. Find out how you can support a scholarship in his name.
