

Full-Time MBA Global Immersion

Based in St. Louis, informed by the world.

Most of your first semester at WashU Olin will be “on the road,” where you’ll gain a better understanding of the context in which businesses operate. This immersive experience starts in late June in St. Louis with orientation and a deep dive into Olin’s values-based, data-driven approach to decision-making. From there, you’ll travel to the inner halls of the US government in Washington, DC; then, to Barcelona, Spain, a European hub of business, trade, and manufacturing; and finally to Shanghai, China’s commercial center and home to many of the country’s largest businesses.

Six-week global immersion

St. Louis

Orientation immerses you in Olin’s values-based, data-driven approach to decision-making.

Washington, DC

Experts at the Brookings Institute give you an insider’s view into the economies, institutions, and culture of the United States, Europe, and China.

Barcelona

You acquire the core tools of managerial analysis and decision-making through hands-on projects with local businesses.

Shanghai

You experience China’s massive and dynamic business climate to understand business models and the link between strategy and operations.

St. Louis

You begin your core courses in strategy, economics, operations, marketing, finance, and accounting.

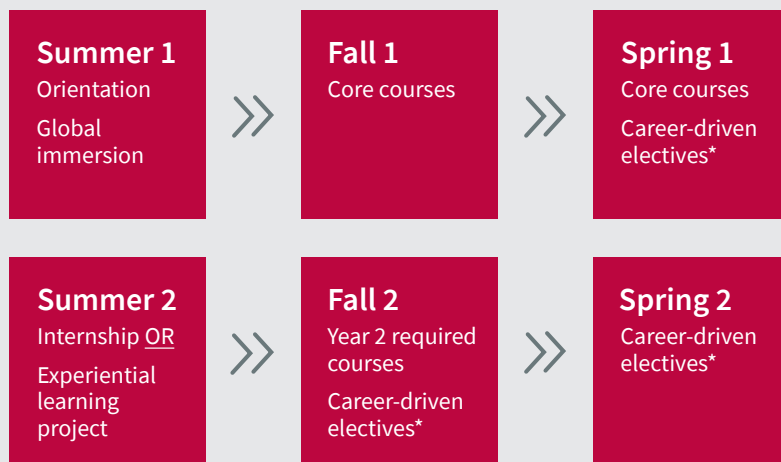

Teamwork skill development, communication coaching, and career coaching

A Typical Week in a very atypical program.

At each stop, your days will be filled with activity, integrating lecture, experiential learning, teamwork, and real-time feedback from faculty and experienced coaches. You'll build a comprehensive and integrated understanding of business during this real-world, hands-on global experience.
