If you’re working full-time and managing a busy schedule, it’s still possible to achieve an MBA degree from WashU’s highly respected Olin Business School, consistently ranked as one of the best schools in the nation.

At Olin, our Professional MBA (PMBA) classes work around a typical work schedule. You’ll take courses from the same professors as our full-time MBA students, with the same stringent academic standards, career resources, and networking opportunities—and you’ll be awarded the same prestigious degree.
Highly Flexible Scheduling

Our evening and weekend course options accommodate disciplined professionals.

It’s possible for you to work full-time and still achieve your MBA degree with our flexible evening or Saturday program options.

Evening Program: 2 classes per week
6:15 p.m. to 9:15 p.m.

Saturday Program: 2 classes per day
8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

Business Basics You Need to Lead

Our program prepares students for high-level management challenges with standards that are academically rigorous, yet flexible. The result is an environment where top students and leaders come to learn cutting-edge new leadership strategies, and can employ them at work the very next day.

Core curriculum consists of 24 credits covering the basics of accounting, finance, management, human resources, marketing, and more, creating a strong baseline for your business masters education.

For your Core classes, you’ll be placed in a group of four or five peers, designed to complement each student’s professional experience and areas of expertise.

You’ll have the opportunity to explore your interests with a foundation of business knowledge in place.
