Recruiting Expectations and Guidelines

- Exploding offers are prohibited (e.g., any offer that does not afford a candidate the appropriate time to either accept or decline and/or has special incentives attached for the purpose of inducing early acceptance). Such offers put enormous pressure on our students to make a decision before they have completed the interviewing process.

- Fall recruiting full-time or internship offers: It is common for students to receive a full-time offer at the end of the internship or in early September. For all full-time offers or internship offers made in the summer or the fall, we strongly encourage giving the student a minimum of three weeks after the offer is made or until December 1, whichever is later. The intent is to allow students to participate in the majority of fall recruiting.

- Spring recruiting full-time or internship offers: For companies interviewing in the spring semester, we recommend giving the student until March 1 or a minimum of three weeks after the offer is made (whichever is later).
